城市介紹 | INTRODUCTION OF THE CITY

Kelowna is located in western Canada, surrounded by mountains, farms and on the shores of Lake Okanagan. These beautiful lands are the traditional territories of the Syilx Peoples, who have lived here since time immemorial.

Home to more than 500 restaurants, the Kelowna region boasts hundreds more wineries, distilleries and breweries, farms, vineyards and markets. Local chefs collaborate directly with farmers, shaping dishes around the ingredients grown and harvested nearby.

Okanagan College offers culinary arts training to aspiring chefs, and in-school programs throughout the region allow young children and youth to experience farm life and food preparation in hands-on, experiential learning.

Kelowna is known for our fresh produce, especially our fruits – from grapes, apples, cherries – and so much more. A long-standing commitment to protecting farmland remains central to the region's identity and continues to be a priority for the City of Kelowna's future development.

Newly designated as a City of Gastronomy in 2025, Kelowna is looking forward to launching and sharing initiatives that promote sustainable, resilient food systems; honour and share traditional culinary practices; contribute to regional economic development and tourism; and raise awareness of the incredible gastronomy of Kelowna and the Okanagan region.
